D. MOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR GOVERNOR.
LUKE P. BLACKBURN, of Jefferson County.
 FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR.
JAMES E. CANTRELL, of Scott County.
 FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL.
P. W. HARDIN,
 of Mercer County.
 FOR JUDGE.
PAUL H. HENRY,
 of Madison County.
 FOR TREASURER.
JAMES W. TATE,
 of Franklin County.
 FOR REPRESENTATIVE PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.
JOSEPH DESHA PICKETT, of Fayette County.
 FOR REGISTER OF LAND OFFICE.
RALPH SHELTON,
 of Union County.
 COL. TICE, of Graves, declines the call to become a candidate for the State Senate in this District.

CAPT. JO SHERRILL, recently spoken of as the Greenback candidate for the State Senate in this District, died, near Mayfield, last week, of flux.

JUDGE A. R. BOONE declines to run for Representative of Graves, because he would antagonize political and professional friends already on the track.

DR. LUKE P. BLACKBURN, (who will then be Governor) has written to the Secretary of the Fulton Agricultural Society, promising to attend our Fall Fair, if his health will permit. The people of the entire county will give him a royal welcome and entertainment.

THE DEMOCRAT says John Caldwell, a so-called Kansas emigrant agent, who promised to take dummies to the promised land for thirty cents a head, after spending a week in Bowling Green, slipped with sixteen dollars of the dummies' money, and left an unpaid board bill.

Courier Political Notes.

Who will be the State Senator?
 Who will be the member of the Legislature?

You can vote solid for Blackburn. Get your neighbor to vote.

KENTUCKY holds the first State election this year, on the 4th day of August.

VOTE the straight ticket through and through, but at any rate vote for Blackburn.

WATSON stock is booming. The Clinton Democrat and the Mayfield Leader have crossed swords. We wait impatiently for the first blood.

HENRY GEORGE stock for the State Senate appears to be booming. The Mayfield Leader is out squaring and flat footed for him, and gives pointed reasons why it endorses him.

TALK to your neighbor who is indifferent, and get him to go to the polls and vote for Blackburn. Each reader can get one more vote out of him, if he will try.

The people should think and talk about the question of a new constitution or amending the present one, and should not forget that in order to carry it, it will be necessary to secure a majority of all the legal voters in the State.

DEMOCRATIC speakers are now out in nearly every county in Kentucky, but not one in the First District. Where these Democratic champions and heroes who, when a big fat office is in sight, have done so much service for the party!

"Put Up Or Shut Up."

The Cincinnati Gazette does not attest, in an estimable form, that Dr. Luke P. Blackburn, the Democratic nominee for Governor of Kentucky, ever proposed to assassinate yellow fever through the Union armies and Northern cities. The Gazette is a snick sheet. It would publish cowardly insinuations, and make a virtue of a mischievous lie, and the courage to put in tangible shape.

Bigger and Trimble.

We were not present to hear Judge Bigger's speech at Woodville, Saturday, but are informed that he came up to the highest expectations of his friends. Judge Trimble was present, and also addressed the crowd. He did not announce himself as a candidate, but left the people under the impression that he would run. If he would let him to. We are also informed that the discussion between these two gentlemen was quite a warm one, and that it was slightly mixed with personalities. Both are men of ability, and the impression is that there will be a warmly contested election should Mr. Trimble enter the race.

It can not be denied that the defense of Judge Hargis has been greatly strengthened in the mind of the public by the publication of Hon. W. E. Bullock and others that the Hon. E. Judge Hargis is correct, and the statement in the Courier-Journal, of June 19.

What Congress Did Do.

The following are the bills of importance passed by the House at the recent session, which are now law: Making appropriation for legislative, executive and judicial expenses; for the support of the army, for the judicial expenses of the Government.

To provide for the exchange of subsidiary coins for lawful money of the United States under certain circumstances, and to make such coins a legal tender in all sums not exceeding $10.

Making appropriation for the construction of the jetty at the mouth of the Mississippi.

To amend sections 1417, 1418, 1419, 1420 and 1624 of the Revised Statutes of the United States relating to the navy.

To provide for the appointment of a "Mississippi River Commission" for improvement of said river from the head of the passes near its mouth to its head waters.

Making additional appropriations for the service of the Office of Department.

To authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to negotiate for the purchase at private sale, or if necessary, procure by condemnation, a site for a postoffice in the city of Baltimore, Md.; to put quinoline and sulphate of quinoline on the free list.

To allow JOHN MERYMAN and FRANK BROWN, of Maryland, to import and land cattle for breeding purposes.

Personalities and Censor.

[From the New York Times.]

If this country is ever again to be in the enjoyment of peace and prosperity, there must be a time when, as regards individuals, the veil shall be drawn over the past. In a certain sense, however, must be big, or, a thoroughly reformed country will be impossible. For a generation at least, the relations sustained during the war will materially influence the fortunes of candidates both North and South. Not less certain is it that the proceedings of the Democratic party and the utterances of Southern Congressmen have revived questions which should be now have been practically forgotten.

As a consequence of the measures of this session, sectionalism will once more appear in politics. How long it will remain there is a question dependent on events, especially on the events at the South. But the renewal of sectional issues as between the two parties does not constitute a just fiction of its renewal as between Senators and Representatives. Once fairly started in Congress, a man's right to be there is not open to partisan attack. His antecedents are not in dispute. His constituents do not object to them, and that is enough. Let the issue, then, be settled. Let the press may be rendered more than a bear garden at any moment.

Following by Electricity.

A recent meeting of the Paris Academy of Sciences, M. Trosc gave an account of some experiments in following by electricity which he witnessed at normal, in the marine. A Gramme machine, making 1,200 revolutions per minute, and driven by a steam engine, was connected by a second Gramme at a distance of 440 yards, and caused the latter to revolve at the rate of 1,140 revolutions per minute, the electricity produced by the first machine being thus converted into work. The second machine was connected to a third at a distance of 210 yards, and these two worked cables attached to a double barbed wire. According to M. Trosc, the experiment was very successful, the work accomplished representing the equivalent of three horse power, while one steam engine was really transferred to a distance of more than 1,000 yards from the furnace.

Advice to a Young Man.

Young man, when you see any thing you want, ask for it like a man. If you want to borrow five dollars of a man, or if you only want to marry his daughter, don't sidle up to him and hang on to your hat and talk politics and religion and weather and tell him how you are getting on, and remember the young man you worry the old man into a nervous irritation. Go at him with a full bell of steam on and your bow ports open, like an iron old pulling for a shore battery. Start and make your head like a red mortar dress, eyes like fire, and up and the dust a flying. Then you will fetch him. Or possibly, he may fetch you but never mind; you'll accomplish something and show you aren't afraid to speak what's on your mind. And that's a great deal more than you would accomplish by the other method. You needn't be cheeky, but you ought to be straight forward.

The enormous extent of the uncultivated and embraced in the United States, will be appreciated when the fact is stated, that over half the already occupied States and Territories there are over 724,000,000 acres of surveyed lands belonging to the nation, and are unimproved and open to entry settlement. In addition to this there are upwards of 1,000,000,000 acres yet to be surveyed.

Women in Austria perform the duties of bricklayers, laborers, and carriers of bricks up high buildings. More than this, actually supply the place of ovens, and dig wheel barrows of "ballast" almost as nimbly as their lords. They chop wood, they carry water, they offer to black your boots in the street, and perform many other little offices, which, according to our notions, scarcely come under the denomination of "women's work."

A preacher in Georgia is the father of thirty two children, which bears any thing so far on record. But all this is not so strange as this one of Georgia—(Curtis) (O.) Repository.

NOT A DROP.

Hon. Oscar Turner's Exposition of his constituents and Obscure Newspaper.

Mr. Oscar Turner—I rise, Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of making a personal explanation.

The gentleman—How much time does the Speaker desire?

Mr. Oscar Turner—But a very few minutes?

The Speaker—Is their objection?

Mr. Oscar Turner—Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege. My attention was called yesterday to an editorial in the Daily Memphis Avalanche of June 28, in which, speaking of myself, it is stated that I recently found it necessary to assure the country that I had not been drunk three whole days. [Laughter.] Every member upon this floor knows that the statement is entirely false and without foundation, and I denounce it as such.

Further it is stated in the same article that I am a conspicuous member of the house—conspicuous for inability to keep sober—and the same charge is repeated in different language several times. Now it is a fact that I have not drunk any spirituous liquor during this session of Congress. [Cries of "Good!"] And my colleagues, who are and have been in constant association with me on this floor and off it, will bear me witness to this fact, and the members who know me know that the said charge in said paper is wholly and grossly false, and I refer especially to the members from Tennessee, where this paper is published, and especially to Mr. Atkins, with whom I have been acquainted for twenty years and whom I have met frequently socially as well as upon this floor during this session. I am at a loss to know why I should have been made the object of such falsehood and scandal, for the falsity is so notorious here I have not been absent from this hall ten minutes during this session when this House has been in session, and have voted upon every question as the year and days will show in the Record, not missing a single vote, and no member of any party would hesitate to attest the falsity of the charges made in the said article.

But the article alluding to my being mistaken by Hon. Mr. Hubbell of Michigan, for Mr. E. B. Smith, Chairman of the State Republican Committee of Ohio, in an interview in which under that mis-statement I was supposed to contribute to the National View, a Greenback paper of this city, was designed to create the impression that no such mistake occurred and that no such mistake could have been made, and that my statement which had appeared in the Post was not true. Now, Mr. Speaker, the statement I made was published in a letter addressed to me and explained, and was published June 24, and was seen by Mr. Hubbell that day.

I will send to the reporter and make it a part of my remarks, how ever, there is any desire to have it read now, that can be done.

Mr. Conner—The gentleman assumes that my colleague [Mr. Hubbell] is present.

Mr. Oscar Turner—The gentleman's colleague is present.

Mr. Conner—I did not see him. Further, Mr. Hubbell acknowledged the mistake he had made to Hon. Joseph C. S. Blackburn, my colleague, and did not deny statements in my letter.

Mr. Hubbell sought a formal introduction to me and explained, and he committed the error of mistaking me for Mr. Robinson, Chairman of the republican Committee of Ohio, and had the conversation Mr. Hubbell who is now in his seat, has never denied them upon that day, but upon the day he occurred as detailed in my letter, and this statement is not made for the purpose of annoying him by further publicity in the matter, but to relieve myself from the gross falsehoods contained in the unjust article in the Avalanche. There are other matters of which in said article, the utterance of which is unworthy of any gentleman. Those who have witnessed my demeanor or over this session commenced, of all political parties, will pronounce me to be a man of integrity and not digress them by further notice.

A newspaper controversy is not desirable; but when such an article is published by an intermediary who knows nothing of the matter, and is not to the interest of truth and fairness, but for mere purposes of defiance, and that, too, in the part of Tennessee, which adjoins my district, it is due to myself and truth that it should be corrected and its falsity exposed.

Mr. Atkins—Mr. Speaker, this is evidently a case of mistaken identity. Somebody has mixed these children up. [Great laughter.]

The Speaker—Does the gentleman from Louisiana rise to privileged question? [Renewed laughter.]

Mr. Atkins—Mr. Speaker, I merely suggest as the gentleman from Michigan Mr. Hubbell is here, the House would like to hear from him in reference to this question of mistaken identity.

Mr. Hubbell—Mr. Speaker, if I could be assured any gentleman present would not publish a card of what I am about to say under his own name in the public prints, I might be induced to make some little explanation in regard to the mistake which has so bothered the gentleman of Kentucky. [Laughter.] Or if the gentleman from Kentucky when I approached him under a mistake had had his usual self possession about him, and informed me I was mistaken and talking to the wrong man, perhaps he might not have been in the trouble he is now in.

When the card was published, and these things, Mr. Speaker, were all published without consulting me as to whether the statements made were true or not, I sought the gentleman from Kentucky and told him that he had not stated the thing as it occurred; that he had not related the transaction as it had occurred, in one or two particulars.

For instance—

Mr. Oscar Turner—I ask the gentleman to specify in what particulars.

Mr. Hubbell—I am going on to specify. I told the gentleman he had made a mistake or he had misunderstood me, if he said the committee, which I have the honor to represent, had paid or was to pay any money to this Greenback paper, this National View. I told him I expressly said to him—"My committee cannot do anything, but you fellows who are interested (supposing I was talking to the Ohio gentleman), [great laughter] and better but some of you fellows, your own pockets and help it personally will do what I can." I made a mistake. I thought I was talking to an Ohio gentleman. [Great laughter.]

Mr. Oscar Turner—And a Republican.

Mr. Hubbell—I thought it was a mistake, the interview would be published in the public prints, and I was pained beyond expression to learn it. I thought I was talking to an Ohio gentleman, and I was laughing away, not getting the substance of the interview, but getting my acquaintance of the "room," for when a good joke is played on me I enjoy it as well as anybody, and we laughed at the joke, but when they thought it necessary to publish a card, that annoyed me. I care nothing about it personally; I have no ill will toward the gentleman from Kentucky.

Mr. Oscar Turner—Nor have I any toward you.

Mr. Hubbell—But I am sorry the gentleman's good sense did not detect to him a little sooner and induce him to keep a little quiet about this whole thing, and then he would not be so pained to give to a personal explanation.

Mr. Oscar Turner—I ask the gentleman to give the substance of the interview, but getting my acquaintance of the "room," for when a good joke is played on me I enjoy it as well as anybody, and we laughed at the joke, but when they thought it necessary to publish a card, that annoyed me. I care nothing about it personally; I have no ill will toward the gentleman from Kentucky.

Mr. Oscar Turner—Nor have I any toward you.

Hon. Jas. A. McKenney has succeeded in securing the passage of his "free quinine bill." This entitles him to the gratitude of suffering millions.

The State is suing Lessee South of penitentiary for $50,000 in the Franklin Circuit Court. Col. South pleads terms of court. I would also say to those who want to borrow money, and are a great annoyance to me, that I have no money to loan.

There are 39,258 post offices in the United States. The number of persons employed in the postal service is 54,487, this exclusive of postmasters.

Camele are becoming scarce in the East, forty thousand of these beasts employed by the English in the Afghan war, just closed, having died.

The annual tea crop of the world is 681,000,000 lbs. China producing 600,000,000 lbs., Japan 40,000,000 lbs., India 35,000,000 lbs. and Java 6,000,000 lbs.

Over 4,000 tons, eight million pounds of candy are manufactured in Boston yearly by three large firms. Three hundred workmen are employed in these manufactories.

Mayfield has quite a sensation—a least it is a matter in which considerable interest is taken. A negro woman has sworn her child to a prominent citizen of the place, who is being tried for bastardy.

Spring and Summer are very pleasant seasons, with cool mornings, their balmy days, their wealth of buds and blossoms, their early fruit, vegetables, and all of that, but one never can tell when a man with the odor of spring comes to town, and tries to tell you and tell a long story.

A place mild, white and curly, glass hats for ladies, with glass feathers; glass wool, not to be distinguished from the genuine, and quite as warm being a non-conductor; glass carpets, cuffs, collars, veils and dresses are the novelties introduced by Mr. A. Prengie, glass artist and spinner, Vienna.

Some colored men near Decatur, Alabama, in excavating a mound on Major Fielder's plantation, near Union Springs, Alabama, discovered the skeleton of an Indian warrior, buried, sitting erect on the skeleton of a horse. Large lumps of gold and sheets of iron glass, decorated relics, etc., were found.

An American writing from Spain urges the shipment of labor saving implements there. Spanish farmers plow with the end of a piece of wood about two inches thick, and are doing in the Middle Ages, sowing and reaping machines are unknown, and grain is not threshed. Oxen tread it out, and it is winnowed by women, who toss it into the air to scatter the chaff.

Four hundred thousand persons, according to the "Railway World," are employed on the railroads in this country, and five times that many depend upon the roads for support. It is also estimated that between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 are annually paid to employees and to persons who furnish the companies with supplies of various kinds.

Eminece Constitutionalists: The prospects for a good tobacco crop in this country is quite encouraging. The recent rains have offered a "splendid season" for planting, and our farmers have generally availed themselves of the opportunity to "set out" a large area in tobacco. The wheat crop is more than an average, and of superior quality. The corn is looking unusually promising, and there are few now who have any doubt of a fair crop.

How The Nails Grow. The growth of the nails is more rapid in children than in adults, and slowest in the aged; goes on faster in summer than in winter, so that the same nail which is renewed in 132 days in winter, requires only 116 in summer. The in and out of the nails of the right hand is more rapid than those of the left; moreover, it differs for the different fingers, and in order corresponds with the length of the finger, consequently it is the fastest in the middle finger, nearly equal in the two on either side of it, slower in the little finger and slowest in the thumb. The growth of all nails on the left hand requires eighty-two days more than those of the right.

America eats more potatoes than any other nation, because her people have more of them to eat.
